WORK EXPERIENCE

Precision Psychiatry Data Analyst – Clinical & Behavioral Data Lead September 2025 – August 2026

PanLab @ Department of Psychiatry, Stanford School of Medicine

PI: Dr. Leanne Williams

- Promoted to lead data management, integration, visualization, and analysis of clinical and behavioral datasets to enhance research rigor and inform research decisions of the Center for Precision Mental Health
- Developed a Python package for automating data workflows, improving efficiency in the processing and harmonization of psychometric datasets

Precision Psychiatry and Neuroimaging Data Analyst

July 2024 – September 2025

PanLab @ Department of Psychiatry, Stanford School of Medicine

PI: Dr. Leanne Williams

- Directed collaboration with the DCC to ensure accurate data submission and full compliance with NIMH reporting standards for a U01-funded clinical trial under the IMPACT-MH initiative
- Spearheaded collaboration between engineers and clinical research teams to develop, test, and launch a web-based cognitive battery, integrating it into research studies for scalable data collection
- Verified dataset integrity, harmonized data, and validated scoring procedures for behavioral data based on normative samples, ensuring research accuracy and reliability
- Presented a novel Offline Policy Evaluation method to demonstrate that using brain signatures for treatment assignment results in higher remission rates compared to traditional methods

Research Data Analyst

June 2021 – July 2024

Department of Psychiatry, Stanford School of Medicine

PI: Dr. Jane Paik Kim

- Contributed to multidisciplinary projects in the Empirical Ethics Group, Eating Disorders Research Program, and Center for Interdisciplinary Brain Sciences Research by managing data, streamlining preprocessing, creating visuals, and generating reports
- Developed and deployed a survey administration web application using Python Flask and AWS (e.g., EC2, BeanStalk), implementing the Sequential Multiple Assignment Randomized Trials (SMART) methodology
- Applied advanced statistical algorithms (e.g., Graphical Lasso, Latent Dirichlet Allocation, Contextual Bandits) to analyze the ethical implications of ML/AI in medical decision-making and neuroscience research participation
- Designed a clinician-facing dashboard integrating data from a mobile health app to support treatment insights for adolescent anorexia nervosa

Research Assistant

May 2019 – Dec 2020

Microstructural Imaging Group @ Laboratory of NeuroImaging \(LONI\)

PI: Dr. Farshid Sepehrband

- Created a Deep Neural Networks model on a GPU cluster that auto-segments White Matter Hyper-intensities in multi-modal MRI images of the brain with Dice coefficient of up to 0.88
